

Features

Linda Fairstein: Novelist for the Prosecution 18

In her two decades as prosecutor for Manhattan's ground-breaking sex crimes unit, Linda Fairstein was not only making history—she was also gathering material for a hard-hitting series of bestselling novels.

by Cheryl Solominski

So Long Lives This: My Mother's Legacy 10

One daughter's quest to fulfill her mother's literary dreams.

by Pat Galloway

The Three Falcons 24

Warner Brothers filmed Dashiell Hammett's classic novel, The Maltese Falcon, not once, not twice, but three times in the decade following its publication in 1931.

by Ross Miller

Looking for Mma Ramotswe 30

The main problem with looking for the most famous woman in Botswana is that she doesn't exist. However, a traveler in search of Alexander McCall Smith's "good women in a good land" won't come away disappointed.

by Daniel Robinson

Through the Looking Glass: A Talk with Ken Bruen 36

This hard-boiled literary stylist is gaining an increasing audience in the U.S.

by Denise Stearns

Death in the Afternoon: Soap Operas Turn to Crime 44

Recently there has been a plague of stalking, kidnapping, extortion, and murder in the soap.

by Alison Adams

A Date with Harley Jane Kozak 48

An actress turns her hand to romantic suspense and comes up with the weekly charming Wollie Shelley card shop owner and "research date."

by Brian Shapiro

99 Times Out of 100 58

The filming of his novel Myrtle River made Dennis Lehane that Hollywood reality—a happy writer. But 99 times out of 100, our author reveals, events take a very different turn.

by James W. Hall

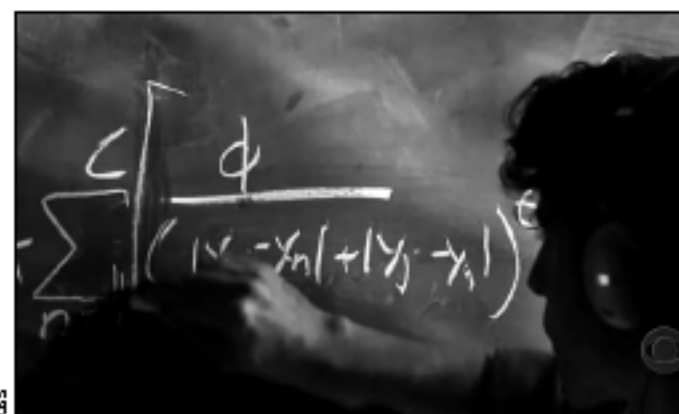

Linda Fairstein, page 18.

A place of literary history saved, page 24.

Harley Jane Kozak on TV, page 48.

It all adds up... A review of Murder on the Nile by Agatha Christie, page 62.

Departments

At the Scene by Kate Shires 4

Hints & Allegations 12

Melvin Belli's Manuel MVA, General Menter • Writers Take Bookstore Hostage • Regency's Chancell House Stated • American Circumstances • Archie's Outpost • 2008 Edgar Award Nominations

The Writing Life

GORMANIANI

Joseph Hansen • Norbert Davis • Crime Scenes • Arkady Babunin
by Ed Gorman

WHAM! BAM! POW!

by Gerry Phillips

NEW BOOKS

In the Dark: What Makes a Novel Noir? by Cora Lee
The Crafty Author by Tom Meyer

Media Reviews

SOUNDS OF SUSPENSE

Books on Tape
by Dick Locke & Tom Nolan

EYEWITNESS

The 2008 Cheap Thrill Awards
by Kevin Burton Smith

TV VIEWS

The New Miss Marple: Geraldine McEwan assumes the role of Christie's famous elderly sleuth. Plus Hallmark Channel rolls out its ambitious new mystery movie line-up courtesy of the folks behind Diagnosis: Murder.
by Ross Miller

Additional TV Review: Seven Against Snow reviewed by Dick Locke & NUNBERS reviewed by Dirk Wyle.

Carolyn Wheat

What's Happening With...

CAROLYN WHEAT 80
by Brian Shapiro

Book Reviews

CHILD'S PLAY 60
Books for Young Sleuths
by Roberto Rogosa

Here Here's
A review of Highly Ill by Burt of Xan, page 65.

Photo: Olivier H. Brown

WHAT ABOUT MURDER? 61
Reference Books Reviewed
by Jon L. Breen

VERY ORIGINAL 63
Paperback Originals
by Richard Goldmann
& Nancy Alice Gorman

SHORT & SWEET 66
Short Stories Considered
by Lisa Cozzani

MYSTERY SCENE REVIEWS 67

Miscellaneous

LETTERS 6

THE DOCKET 43

MYSTERY MISCELLANY 11
by Louis Phillips

ADVERTISING INFO 4

ADVERTISING INDEX 74

CLASSIFIEDS ADS 79

Cover photo of Linda Fairstein
by Sigrid Emmels